SEA FISHING

Photography in Fox glaric

New Zealand residents are particularly fond of fishing. They will throw the hook into the sea at low tide and then rush to the shore, the hook will be fixed in the sand. They often have three or five friends together, bring sandwiches and beer, and stay at the beach for a day. If they catch fish, they will cook the fish together at night. If they don't catch it, they will be happy to leave.
